Monday Marks Launching of Drive for Building Site For Future S. C. F.

Students of S.I.N.U. under the leadership of Cletis and Curtis Hise are organized to launch a ten-day drive on the campus to raise $1000 for the new interdenominational foundation. The campaign will begin with a kick-off dinner, November 12, and close November 22, the day before Thanksgiving. A report dinner will be held on Monday, November 20. All students and friends of the Foundation will be invited to participate.

A Student Project

Many have felt that they as students should participate in the drive to secure a building site for the new foundation. It was felt that while student giving cannot be as large as adult giving, it can be significant. Students, because they will benefit directly from such a project, feel urged to participate as students. So a student group has been set and a campaign launched, not only to raise the goal, but also to show to our parents and alumni, the adults, that the project is vital and needed as well as appreciated by the students.

Campaign Contact

Those who are campaigning for the funds have been divided into two groups, the Marshalls and the Williams. Each group has been named for each side and a captain selected. Persons chosen have for the most part been chosen from the student body. The student body is divided equally between the sides and equally among the sides. It is hoped that the goal of $1000 will be met and that the drive will be a success.

Watch the Foundation Building

In an appropriate place on the campus will be located a skeleton outline of the Foundation with 1000 bricks outlined on it. The bricks will be white or yellow? For every dollar secured by either side from student sources, a brick will be painted white or yellow. Solicitors will be glad to take pictures as well as cash. This is a significant drive and one which will be a success. The drive will be a success. The drive will be a success.

'WACARAVAN' ARMY STAGE SHOW TUESDAY NIGHT IN SHRYOCK AUDITORIUM

Army representatives, arriving in Carbondale Tuesday, completed plans for the Sixth Service Command's presentation of the A&P's famed stage show, the Wacaravan here in Shryock Auditorium, next Tuesday night, Nov. 14, at eight o'clock.

The two-hour production featuring the performances of 30 entertainers, actors, comedians, and dancers, will be a tough sell for the public, according to Nick Masters, chairman of the committee for the Carbondale Businessmen's Association, under whose sponsorship the show comes here.

The Wacaravan was continued in its tour of the Sixth Service Command by the Army's tough sell, commanding general, Brig. Gen. R. Reynolds. It was obtained for the Illinois audience by Brig. Gen. W. C. Guthrie, commanding district 2.

The show centers around vaudeville-style acts with a brilliant 12-piece orchestra, members of which have played with some of the nation's leading name acts, among them those of Sammy Kaye, Anson Weeks, Charles Brown, and Gene Krupa. The featured instrumentalist with the show is a sensational pianist, Bobbie Short, rated by no less an authority than Tommy Dorsey as one of the five greatest swing pianists in the United States.

PROPOSED STUDENT CHRISTIAN FOUNDATION

The above is a conception of the building which shall house the program and activities of the Student Christian Foundation and other related activities. The building is one of which all can be proud. The illustration is a perspective from the southwest as the building faces University Avenue. It will be placed on a site within a hundred and fifty feet of the main entrance to the campus. The building will have three well developed and equipped floors for student use.

First Floor

The first floor will contain a large library lounge with adequate reading, studying and research facilities, including a sacred music library. It will also be provided with adequate space for a library where students can study or where they can browse books for use outside of the building.

Second Floor

The second floor is unique in that, practically the entire floor will be given over to one large lecture hall. Its atmosphere will be that of a modern lecture hall. Also on the second floor will be found a warming kitchen for serving luncheon, dressing room for the students, private rooms for the general use of the students, storage rooms, and two guest rooms in order to provide for visiting students.

Statement

In the basement will be a well-equipped heating, fuel storage, and ventilation system; a large kitchen and small lunch room which can be opened into a large dining room; rest rooms, check rooms, and rooms for musical recreation such as ping-pong and shuffleboard.

Beauty, Permanence, Utility and Devotion

Beauty—the architect will probably use a modern style, but the building will be a permanent structure. Utility—the building will be the best that can be obtained in this price range. Devotion—the building will be a place where students can study and where they can find a place of devotion to our Lord and the cause of Christianity as leaders in the world.

Religious Education

Of primary importance is the use of the building for religious education. Since this is a state institute, instruction in religion cannot be held in University buildings. It is therefore necessary for some agency of the campus to provide a place for religious education. The building will be a place where students can study and where they can find a place of devotion to our Lord and the cause of Christianity as leaders in the world.

IT SHOULD HAPPEN TO YOU

By RODNEY KRAATZ, A/S U.S.A. (Editorial Note: The following feature is a retelling of the view of Homecoming and comes from a large part of a newsletter sent to the members of the Eta Epsilon Alpha Fraternity.)

The very nice, very old, lady in the front seat kept turning around and looking at me as if I were a child. A in a half content or a faint from an incubator. She was the type of lady that always has her husband put up little red balloons so she can find out how long they have been away from home. If they take their mothers-in-law, the navy gives them enough cash. She turned again and with a fifty-cent power motherly grin she gave me the two-dollar question, "Does your mother know you're coming?" After I had assured her that my mother knew I was coming, she had been writing home for two months for the money, she was quiet for a while but I kept wondering if she wasn't just trying to make a fool of me. VIEWS OF THE VETS that a drunk soldier sitting behind me kept muttering "It's about all right, it's about all right." In spite of the fact that I saw most of the play through a hat, I thoroughly enjoyed the comedy, and a near capacity crowd of about 1000 people filled the hall. At the end of the play Dave McIntosh, complete with his new comb-over, led the audience in singing the Alma Mater.

After the play a swarm of happy people assembled on the old football field for the traditional lighting of the green. Up above the sky was like an inverted bowl, framed full of sparkling stars, down below the green was on the field and Dick Ayala was all over the place waving a lively salute. A huge bonfire, fed by Freshman green, was a riot of smoke swirling upward into the blue. If this account is wrong, I'm sorry and maybe it's because I didn't go to the light-green.

Saturday afternoon Southern met Western Teachers in the annual Homecoming football classic. It was Southern all the way, with my in the line named Twenty stopping more than a bureau queue show on Saturday night, a crowd of about 1000 people filled the hall. At the end of the play Dave McIntosh, complete with his new comb-over, led the audience in singing the Alma Mater.

Yes, it's out—a new name and name that entitled The Sinatra Swing. As the title suggests, it is dedicated to swankin' Frank. Other "currents" are When Xmas Comes, Some Peaceful Evening, No Love Junction, Conversation White Dancing, and I Like to Be Loved by You.

Ring Crosby, recently returned from an overseas tour, denied that he had endorsed the "sincerity" of Thomas Dewey. He says that he would not publicly support either party or candidate.

Crosby says he has had nobody who will cast his vote, and he is definitely against war-time elections.

While on his tour, Ring spent two days in England and did many shows for the G. I.'s. He said the boys preferred San Francisco Valley Star Dust, Swing on a Star, and especially White Christmas, which seems to be a general favorite everywhere.

CLASSICS

This Sunday's "Symphony Notes" feature Remont Overture, Stride Quartet in F Major and Piano Concerto No. 1 in C Major.

These two works were written during the last four years of his life and displays his innumerable thoughts and feelings through the medium of four stringed instruments.

The Piano Concerto No. 1 in C Major was the second of Beethoven's published concertos. It opened with a feeling of urgency, and then goes into a truly poetic Lento movement. The Romanticism, with a touch of "Turkish" flavoring, concludes the composition.

The soloist for the piano concerto is Anna Dorfmann, who was the first woman instrumentalist to appear as a soloist under the Townsman baton.

OUT OF KITTLE INTO THE FIRE

By CURTIS

Questions before have been asked about Ernestine Cox's new view. Everyone wants to know the history of the beautiful Ernestine. Ernestine tells the following story to satisfy the curiosity of the questioning students.

The violin is approximately one hundred years old, but the exact when it was made is not known. It is the violin that has given its name to the greatest makers of violins the world has ever known—the Cremona School. Ernestine says she could not really have been made by a pupil of one of these great makers, of whom the most famous were Amati, Stradivari and Guarneri.

The wood was used for one hundred years before its manufacture was probably perfect. There is a lot of history, but she prefers to let her own words tell the story.

Ernestine got this violin from an old Italian family in Ziegler, but had been in the family for many years. The family is very musical and owns many valuable instruments, including an ancient double bass, which is a favorite of the piano. There were six sons until one was recently killed in action. Three others are in the Armed Forces, and the last son, Ernestine, who had been previous to the son that was lost, and the family wanted to give it to someone who they knew would give the care and appreciation that it deserved.

That is the story behind Ernestine's violin, an instrument with everything that is best in the world of music.

for the remainder of the year. Misses Davies, Stebbins, and Phil Lippert were dinner guests at the Chapter House Wednesday evening, November 8th. At this time the new officers, Myrtle (Gibson), Jane Barlett, Florence Seidman, and Lottie Owens were presented their pins by their society members. The remainder of the evening was spent in happy laughter.

"Topsy Turvy Day" was held by the Delta Sigma yesterday. The active, rather plucky, were required to wear no body jewelry, but any of the other of the feminine devices to make them look presentable. All sort of errands and tasks were requested to make the life of the "pledgeds" as miserable as possible.

PI KAPPA SIGMA

A cornucopia was held last Monday evening at the Pi Kappa house when the pledges were given the inside dope on just what makes them tick—the wrong way.

SIGMA SIGMA SIGMA

The Sigma Sigma Sigma pledges played a game of cards with society members with a theatre party last evening. Going in mass, the show was enjoyed by all the girls from the show. The group returned to the Chapter House for sandwiches and coffee.

Weber defines the word basement as "the lowest story of a building." Nothing is mentioned concerning the practical use of it nor of its importance. In fact, one never associates a basement with popularity. However, the basement of Parkview Laboratory is probably the basest, most important, and most popular one now in existence.

One of the photographs department is a picture of the Egyptian office, publicity officer, and Obelisk, Parkinson Law, has been the champion of the cross-road of campus activities.

All we know there is, and we've all been there, is that it is a place where the students can get a night of sleep, a place where they can get a night of sleep, a place where they can get a night of sleep.

Entrance to the laboratory is through a door in the basement. The door is a simple one, but it is a door that leads to a place where the students can get a night of sleep, a place where they can get a night of sleep, a place where they can get a night of sleep.

TALK

Teacher's sometimes have a tough time getting their students to listen. However, they would sit through one session of "Caterpillar," they would find these same clammy pupils listening with bated breath to the story of the cat.

The 2nd round called the million dollar office, lies opposite the million dollar office. You've heard of little men and little women—well, here's a little room. How anything is ever accomplished in such a small place is one of the wonders of the world.
